

OR2015 | 10th International Conference on Open Repositories

June 8-11, 2015, Indianapolis, Indiana, USA

Reach leaders in repository management and development, open access and data curation, and digital preservation by sponsoring Open Repositories 2015

www.or2015.net

Sponsorship opportunities are now available for the 10th International Conference on Open Repositories (OR2015). The event will take place from June 8-11, 2015 in Indianapolis, Indiana, USA at the Hyatt Regency Indianapolis.

The OR2015 program addresses theoretical, practical, and strategic issues across the entire lifecycle of information. The scope extends from the creation and management of digital content, to enabling use, re-use, and interconnection of information, and ensuring long-term preservation and archiving.

The organizers anticipate more than 350 participants from all over the world. The participants will include administrators, software developers, systems engineers, librarians, repository managers, as well as researchers in digital libraries and similar fields.

OR2015 is an excellent place for companies and organizations that operate in the fields associated with digital repositories, including data curation, digital asset management, digital storage, research information systems, scholarly publications, and open access.

You can showcase products and services, and communicate with national and international leaders and decision makers in the digital repository community. Your company or organization can demonstrate active involvement in the global effort toward interoperable digital repositories that provide broad access to quality information and resources.

Through sponsorship you will reach an international audience representing universities, libraries, public administration and businesses. You will be able to build networks with leaders who are making an impact on science, education, and culture of the digital age.

Sponsorship options available in OR2015

Major Sponsor (USD 10,000)

- Large logo on the front cover of the Conference Program
- Three complimentary conference delegate registrations
- Mention in all conference literature as a Major Sponsor
- Logo displayed on the front page of the OR2015 website
- Logo displayed prominently in registration area
- Acknowledgement from podium at opening and closing session
- Inclusion of a promotional flyer provided by your organization in attendee bags

- Inclusion of promotional branded item such as pen or flash drive for all delegates in attendee bags
- Exhibition stand with preferred location (Monday-Thursday)

Sponsor (USD 5000)

- Medium logo in the Conference Program
- Two complimentary conference delegate registrations
- Inclusion of a promotional flyer provided by your organization in attendee bags
- Logo displayed in registration area
- Acknowledgement from podium at opening and closing session
- Medium logo displayed on the sponsor page of the OR2015 website
- Mention in all conference literature as a Conference Sponsor
- Exhibition stand (Monday-Thursday)

Supporter (USD 2500)

- Small logo in the Conference Program
- One complimentary conference delegate registration
- Logo displayed in registration area
- Acknowledgement from podium at opening session
- Small logo displayed on the sponsor page of the OR2015 website
- Exhibition stand (Monday – Thursday)

Further Information

There are also opportunities to sponsor specific parts of the conference such as the conference dinner, poster reception, and the bus transportation to the conference dinner venue, or items such as the attendee lanyards and bags. For further information, please contact the conference organizers at or2015@indiana.edu.

OR2015 is jointly hosted by Indiana University Bloomington Libraries, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign Library and Virginia Tech University Libraries.